Mr. Soucy explained that they are currently discussing a plan with the Alliance Club to work with Potter's for a sensory room within their building. Mr. Soucy said there are no plans for a hallway to connect the current bakery to the rest of the building. There will be additional seating in the other part of the building, but customers will have to go outside and in through a separate door to get to that seating. Mr. Soucy discussed future plans with the rest of the building, including possibly an ice cream shop with front foyer seating. The current plans for the building including a security apartment for the owner to live in.

Mr. O'Connor asked if the ice cream shop would be a second retail shop? Mr. Soucy explained that it won't be connected to the bakery and will have its own entrance.

Mr. Hughes explained that a 2-hour drop ceiling is required between the apartment and the bakery.

Jarrold Norris discussed that a backflow prevention device is not required for the property. Mr. Norris asked about the drainage maintenance agreement. Mr. O'Connor explained that the drainage plan should not change because there is no site work. Mr. O'Connor discussed having a drainage maintenance agreement on file for the property.

Gary Boudreau explained that the sensory room and security apartment is clearly marked. Mr. Soucy explained there will be a new exterior door to the security apartment and a door to the work area from the security apartment. Mr. Soucy asked if the security apartment will be getting a new address. Mr. O'Connor explained that is something that will be looked at.

Mr. O'Connor asked if the only exterior changes to be made at an additional door and windows for additional egress? Mr. Soucy explained that there is already an exterior door for the security apartment.

Ms. Saunders asked where the doorway would be for the sensory room and if there would be an exterior door. Ms. Saunders asked who would be monitoring the room once it is up and running. Mr. Soucy explained that the sensory room is still in the early stages and that has not been discussed. Mr. Soucy explained that there could be a possible design with connection from the inside. Mr. Boudreau explained that parental supervision would likely be in the room with children. Mr. Soucy discussed possibly needing to get a card key from Potter's in order to access the room.
