Question and Answer

Will the City be conducting formal value engineering studies on any of the projects, and, if so, is it the City's intent to include value engineering as one of the services to be procured under this solicitation?

We may ask an engineer to perform a value engineering analysis on a project, if the size and scope of the project warrants one being done, or we are requested by the Council or regulatory body. We have not done one in several years. It is not to say that one won't be done in the future. If it were done, it would only be on the largest projects (e.g. wastewater plant upgrade, perhaps Salmon Falls Road, but only if we received full federal funding). Given our CIP for the next three years, I don't see us doing a formalized value engineering on any of our projects in the pipeline....
